

P.H. DeJonckere, M.D.,Ph.D.

Philippe H. DeJonckere, M.D., Ph.D. is ENT-physician / Phoniatician, certified specialist in Occupational Medicine, Rehabilitation Medicine and Forensic Medicine. He is laureate of the Leuven Conservatory (medal of government 1971). He is emeritus full professor of the Utrecht (NL) University (head of the Institute of Phoniatics) and honorary guest professor of the universities of Leuven (B) and Lille (F). Currently he is General Coordinator of the Scientific Council at the Federal Agency for Occupational Risks in Brussels (Belgium). He has been decorated Commander in the Order of King Leopold II. The Dutch Society of Logopedics and Phoniatics, the Austrian Voice Institute and the Union of European Phoniaticians have made him “Member of Honour”. He has been President of Collegium Medicorum Theatri (1999-2002 and 2012-2015).